IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Last month was full of excitement and celebrations at BH365. Our team not only celebrated Black Music Month and Juneteenth, but we also celebrated our 3 year anniversary. From a dream, to a vision, to reality - BH365 is now in over 250 school districts and on the shelves of many homes. We thank you for sharing our love letter with the world!

Last month we also celebrated Dr. Milton, who was honored at the 37th annual conference of 100 Black Men of America conference with the Community Impact Award in Education. Congratulations Dr. Milton!

FROM THE DESK: CEO'S MESSAGE

Looking in retrospect, as a young man I remember wondering, "Who am I? Where did I come from? Who are my people? In what place in the world do we belong, historically, contemporarily, and futuristically?" This spiritual awakening happened early in my life. I was destined to fill this information-knowledge void that resonates with so many yet remains dormant for their lifetime.

Teaching Black History is an essential component of promoting inclusivity, understanding, and combating ethnocentrism. But on many levels, teaching Black history is under assault; some in "leadership" positions are attempting to set a precedent to block Black history from being taught in some public institutions.

However, a force whose time has come cannot be impeded. Our time is now and beyond—all we must do, is exemplify "calm courage in the midst of tumult." The BH365™ family of curriculum and products offers answers and solutions to probing and inquisitive minds—clearing up untruths, misconceptions, and stereotypes that impact our world negatively. Although challenging at times, BH365™ will continue moving forward to impact the lives of millions throughout the world.

I welcome you to join the journey!

DR. WALTER MILTON JR.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

LISA DEVEAUX

The end of the school year is a great time to reflect on the instructional and leadership practices you implemented throughout the school year to support BH365 implementation. To assist you with the process, here are a four guiding questions.

1. Did I achieve the goals I set for the 2022-23 school year?
2. What professional learning did I engage in that contributed to goal attainment?
3. What goals do I have for the upcoming school year?
4. What professional learning will assist with attaining my goals?

As you think about next year's BH365 implementation goals, take advantage of the support BH365 provides to educators using our textbooks. From on-demand coaching to the annual BH365 Conference, teachers and leaders have access to a myriad of avenues to sharpen their saws.

Here's a link to this year's conference details - BH365 Conference Registration. We look forward to continuing to support your BH365 journey!

EDUCATION SPOTLIGHT

We're excited to share the following feedback from Anita Koyier-Mwamba, Manager of Black Education with Seattle Public Schools, "We are seeing great success utilizing Black History 365 in our Black Studies course. I am SO glad we purchased this resource!"

We are truly humbled by such kind words and are honored to have had the opportunity to partner with Seattle Public Schools in bringing Black history to the classroom! At BH365, we believe that embracing diversity and fostering inclusivity is crucial. Incorporating our curriculum into your school will help build a future where every day is an opportunity to celebrate and learn from the rich tapestry of Black history!
